Class # 35

Thursday

October 26, 2017: 10am-noon

Volunteers: Cliff* Libby Mary Lauren

Students: Young hye, Hyunju, Yoko, Rainbow, Jing Sun and Guosheng

Cliff's Notes:

I went with Rainbow and Guo Sheng to the lounge for pronunciation practice. We went over two stories, "Water Under the Sink Part I" – from the Internet and "Mail Carrier" from our web site. They had a little trouble with repeating back phrases and sentences with the first one, but not with the second one. They both read the stories very well with almost no mistakes in pronunciation. This was my first time leading the pronunciation section and the students were helpful as to how we should do it.

I had suggested that the main group talk about nature and the natural world and I left them copies of idioms using nature terms.

We had an extended break with the students doing most of the talking.

When we sat down again, we talked about raising children. Several of the students have children who recently became teenagers and we talked about the changes in behavior that occur.
