Linda, Liz, Erin, Lou Bartolumucci

Each student/volunteer gave a sentence using a reduction. Linda wrote the reductions on the board and we also discussed several new reductions students had encountered.

The articles on St. Patrick's Day and Who Was St. Patrick? were read and discussed. Bolded vocabulary words were introduced and defined.

Students were asked to describe in full sentences either the picture of the Irish step dancers in EEN or a small leprechaun decoration.

We discussed the fact that more than 12% (about 33 million) of Americans claim to have some Irish heritage.

A brief discussion of legends and national heroes from each student's home country followed.

As examples of refreshments likely to be found in Ireland, Irish soda bread and tea were enjoyed by all.
