

Wednesday evening, March 28, 2018
Conversation Friends Notes

Class # 90

Students: Rainbow, Jing
Volunteers: Linda,* Elizabeth

Linda's notes:

We had an interesting class tonight. All my lessons went out of the window but I hope our two students, Jing and Rainbow enjoyed the class, I think they did.

We started by asking about Rainbow's health and if she had an appointment with the doctor. She does, tomorrow with her PCP who will recommend a cardiologist to her.

After that, we dyed eggs and talked about spring rituals in China. One of them is an egg festival. The eggs are hard boiled and children take turns "tapping" the egg against another student's egg to see who has the strongest egg. We can't get away from spring and eggs!

The church was set up for Maundy Thursday service, so we went in and talked about what Maundy Thursday was, the Garden of Gethsemane, Good Friday and Easter. Whew! We also inspected the palms.

The ladies asked questions and we answered them as best we could. We also gave them some phrases they might hear. We even sampled matzo.